Press Release, 11 August 2021

Von Bartha is pleased to present two solo exhibitions by Chilean-Swiss artist Francisco Sierra and Swiss artist Beat Zoderer in the gallery's Basel space, 4 September – 23 October 2021. Lunar Conveniences will showcase new works by Francisco Sierra, including a triptych painting and a sculptural work, exhibited in the south space of the gallery. The Ultimate Sphere will continue Beat Zoderer's exploration into large-scale sculpture and present a series of new sculptural works by the artist that will fill the gallery's north space.

Francisco Sierra (b.1977, Santiago de Chile) is known for considering the possibilities of representation and perception in his work. Lunar Conveniences, his first solo exhibition at von Bartha, will feature new paintings as well as a new sculptural installation. A self-taught visual artist, Sierra is interested in the transformation of apparent clarity into something new and enigmatic. Often working within the realms of both photorealism and surrealism, Sierra focuses on the pitfalls of contemporary photographic reproduction and the transformative potential of painting. In this field of tension between supposedly realistic reproduction and invention, Sierra's work in Lunar Conveniences creates spaces for a narration that takes illusionistic painting method to another level.

The new sculptural installation will playfully explore musical notation and the desire for attribution. Pretending to function as furniture, its bent and curved wooden forms will allude to a dense network of references.

Stefan von Bartha, Director, commented: “We are excited to present Francisco Sierra’s first solo exhibition at our gallery. The show will surprise the viewer with a mix of the artist’s signature paintings alongside a dynamic new sculptural installation that connects to his musical past”.

Beat Zoderer (b.1955, Zürich) is known for his colourful paintings, sculptures and installations created from everyday materials. The Ultimate Sphere will showcase new sculptural works, including a monumental sculpture, site-specific to the gallery space, created using a Suprematist construction method. The sculpture will consist of a giant sphere assembled from numerous wooden boards, which will be painted on-site by the artist using heavily watered-down paint, doused on untreated wood. The sculpture will utilise colours typical to Zoderer’s work, but will be more muted and subtle due to the process of application.

Zoderer uses his sculptures and assemblages as a tool to penetrate perspectives, illuminating the space and distorting depth. Drawing inspiration from artists such as Lyonel Feiniger, Georges Braque and El Lissitzky, the works featured in this show will be entirely spherical in character; playfully constructed using planks of polyurethane foam and coated with a thin layer of piano lacquer to create a perfect curved surface. Zoderer’s artistic approach to creating these new works is expressive, yet precise in its execution. A series of new sculptural wall-based works crafted from copper entitled, kubistische Modelle, will also be featured in the show, adding to the array of everyday materials the artist commonly uses.

Stefan von Bartha, commented: “We have followed and admired the development of Beat Zoderer’s career for many years now, and it is always a pleasure to see the works that this talented artist creates. For this show, Zoderer will present a monumental, site-specific installation in the gallery, as well as new wall works which will be on view to the public for the first time”.

Francisco Sierra: Lunar Conveniences and Beat Zoderer: The Ultimate Sphere will also be available to view through von Bartha’s online viewing room via www.vonbartha.com
